AIG JAPAN DONATES OVER 10 MILLION YEN FOR KUMAMOTO EARTHQUAKE RELIEF

- Donations Will Fund Building Container Houses -

TOKYO, July 14, 2016 – AIG Japan Holdings KK donated ¥10.6 million for Kumamoto earthquake relief efforts to Peace Winds Japan (PWJ). This donation reflects the combined total of funds collected through AIG employee contributions and a corporate matching amount.

PWJ will direct AIG Japan’s donations toward building container houses, which will provide air-conditioned shelter for evacuees whose circumstances make it more difficult for them to live in existing evacuation shelters. The container houses will be used until temporary housing becomes available, or until they are no longer needed.

Employees across all AIG Japan group companies

The donation to PWJ, a Japan-based nongovernmental organization, is part of AIG’s efforts to provide support to the people of Kumamoto. President and CEO of AIG Japan Holdings KK, Robert Noddin said, “The tremendous employee response is a testament to who we are as a company, and will make a real difference in facilitating recovery efforts in Kumamoto.”

In addition to the ¥10.6 million donation, the Fuji Fire and Marine Fureai Club, an employee and company funded community service organization established by the Fuji Fire and Marine Insurance Company, Limited, allocated ¥ 3 million of its existing donation pool to the Japanese Red Cross Society immediately following the earthquake to aid in Kumamoto relief efforts. Other AIG Japan initiatives include supporting employee volunteer trips to the region.
